This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE.

"The main object of a cataloguer should be to make the consultation of his work easy."—WHEATLEY.

OF the various forms of catalogues of libraries there is scarcely an end. It is indeed a case of tot homines quot sententiæ. There is the classified catalogue; the authors' catalogue; the subject catalogue; the catalogue with separate indexes; the catalogue which combines the main entries and indexes in one alphabet, or dictionary catalogue, and many varieties of these.

It is certain that a form of catalogue which is suitable for one library is not necessarily suitable for another. Two of the chief things to be considered are, the class of persons who will use a library, and the nature of the library itself. The old idea of having a classified catalogue, which is in theory possibly the right thing qua catalogue, is exploded, or rather was found to never work; and there is, on the whole, a great deal to be said in favour of entering a book under the author's name, if the name is known; and of putting the cross-references from the subject-title into the same alphabet as the titular entry. This plan has, at all events, been considered the most suitable in the present case.

In preparing a catalogue it is necessary, while making something more than a mere book-list, to avoid the danger of letting it develop into a bibliography. In cataloguing, and in using a catalogue, it is to be remembered that it is the title of a book and not its subject, that is to be dealt with. In a bibliography, it is, of course, the subject which is considered.

To make a good catalogue is a far more difficult matter than those unacquainted with the subject suppose.* There is no doubt that as a rule the librarian should make the catalogue with his own hands, and not by mere direction: in any case, it should, as far as possible, be the work of one person. In the present case, the librarianship of the Institute being joined to the secretaryship, it has been found impossible for the holder of the dual office to perform the actual work of cataloguing. The work has, however, in the main, been prepared under his direction and has been seen through the press by him.

The pros and cons of printed and manuscript catalogues have often been discussed, but it would seem that the advantages of the printed catalogue far outweigh the disadvantages, which are apparently based on the assumption that, because a catalogue is printed it cannot be kept up to date in the library. The disadvantages are more apparent than real.

In England and other countries where libraries are plentiful and means of travel easy, the same need for a full catalogue does not exist as it does in Jamaica. In consideration of the fact that the library of the Institute is at present the only public library in the island, and the only library claiming in any way to be representative of all branches of literature, it has been thought desirable to make the titles fuller and the cross-references more numerous than would be necessary were books and catalogues more plentiful in Jamaica than they are; or even if we had arrived at that "ideal state" alluded to by Mr. Wheatley, when a complete and full bibliography of all literature should exist and catalogues could be less full, but would contain references to the bibliography for further particulars.

In the absence, at present, of any good bibliography of Jamaica Literature, the references to Jamaica in the catalogue have been made as full as possible; and it is hoped that this may form the basis of a true bibliography to be published in the future. This list of Jamaica works has been already published separately, with a supplement added containing a list of works which have been added while the catalogue has been passing through the press.

* "In giving evidence before the Royal Commission which sat upon the British Museum in 1847, Mr. Payne Collier submitted in illustration of his views on cataloguing twenty-five titles which he had made in the course of an hour. Mr. Winter Jones pointed out that "these twenty-five titles contain almost every possible error which can be committed in cataloguing books, and are open to almost every possible objection which can be brought against concise titles," and he further stated that the average number of faults was more that two to a title.

The question of time in preparation and expense in production has prevented the catalogue from taking the form of a true dictionary catalogue, with classified lists under various subjects; and it has been thought that it would, under the circumstances, be better to issue separately Classified Lists of works in the library, of which that on Agriculture, published in February 1893, formed the first.

For those who desire to know what books there are in a given class of literature in the library, there is the shelf-register which gives, in brief, the contents of the library, shelf by shelf.

The catalogue includes only such books as were in the library on the 26th of July, 1893. Lists of subsequent additions have been published in the Journal. The catalogue has been eighteen months in passing through the press: but there were typographical difficulties to be surmounted, which are not met with in England.

Consistency in cataloguing is not only desirable, but up to a certain point absolutely necessary. At the same time it can sometimes be acquired at too high a price To catalogue Molière under Poquelin, in accordance with British Museum Rules, is no doubt, correct, but it is hardly desirable in a small catalogue, for general use, like the present; and to divide Scott's novels between Scott and Waverley because some were originally published anonymously, seems a little absurd.

The following hints may aid readers in referring to the catalogue :—

(1) All books are entered under the authors' names when known.
(2) He who causes a book's existence is considered the author.
(3) Anonymous works are entered under the word in the title which best explains the objects of the author.
(4) Bishops are placed under their surnames; Peers under their titles, not surnames; Sovereigns, Saints and Friars under their Christian names; Authors who have changed their names under the best-known forms.
(5) Catalogues, Transactions, Reports, etc., are given under the names of the Institution.
(6) . . . indicate that words have been omitted. Words enclosed between [ ] are not on the title-page.

As an author of the early part of the seventeenth century says :—"Who faulteth not, lieth not: who mendeth faults is commended: the printer hath faulted a little: it may be the author oversighted more."

RULES OF THE INSTITUTE OF JAMAICA

(AFFECTING MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTE AND THE PUBLIC.)

MEMBERSHIP.

18. Applications for membership shall be made upon or in the form which shall be fixed from time to time by the Board.

Applications are to be addressed to the Secretary who shall, when required, furnish applicants with forms; and every application shall be supported by the signature or signatures of some responsible person or persons to whom the applicant is personally known.

19. Every person applying for admission to membership is required to subscribe to the following agreement:—"I agree, should I be elected, to be bound by all the Rules "and Regulations of the Institute of Jamaica now existing, or as the same may be modi- "fied or added to from time to time, so long as I continue to be a member."

20. All applications shall be submitted to the first ordinary meeting of the Board after their reception by the Secretary.

21. Each application must be moved and seconded by members of the Board and shall be put to the vote.

22. Approval of an application for admission to membership by a majority of the Governors present and voting at the meeting, shall constitute election to membership.

23. The subscription of a member shall be ten shillings, or in the case of members residing outside Jamaica five shillings, per calendar year, and shall be paid on or before the first day of January in each year; except in the case of election when it shall be paid within thirty days of notification of election.

24. Any subscription paid within the year shall be available for that year only.

25. Any member being one month in arrears in payment of his subscription shall be suspended from all privileges of membership; when three months in arrears, he shall cease ipso facto to be a member of the Institute. Should any person who has for this reason ceased to be a member of the Institute wish to be re-elected, all arrears must be paid before his application can be entertained.

26. Any member wishing to withdraw from membership shall give notice of his intention one month at least before the end of the calendar year; failing notice, he will be held liable for the succeeding year's subscription.

27. A member is liable for and will be called upon to make good any damage done by him to the property of the Institute: such damage shall be assessed by the Board of Governors of the Institute, and if not paid the assessment shall be enforcible as a debt, and the member be liable in addition to loss of membership and forfeiture of subscription.

27a. Visitors to Kingston or other persons whose applications are recommended by and specially forwarded by a Governor of the Institute shall be entitled to the privileges of membership, pending election, on payment of the full annual subscription.

HONORARY, CORRESPONDING AND LIFE MEMBERS.

28. For special services or reasons, the Board may elect Honorary Members of the Institute. The election shall take place at an ordinary meeting of the Board, but no election to Honorary Membership shall take place, unless notice has been given at a preceding meeting.

29. The number of Honorary Members shall be limited to twenty.

30. Honorary Members are exempt from payment of subscription, and have the same rights as ordinary members.

31. Corresponding Members shall consist of persons residing outside Jamaica who can be helpful by correspondence or otherwise in promoting the objects of the Insitute, and shall be eligible for election at each monthly meeting.

32. Corresponding Members are exempt from payment of subscriptions, and have the same rights as ordinary members.

33. The Board may admit, subject to Rules 18, 19, 20 and 21, any person to life membership on payment of five guineas.

Privileges of Members.

34. The Board reserves to itself the right to annul the honorary, corresponding, life or other membership of any person; and shall proceed in that matter, in the same manner as for election.

35. Members shall, subject to the Regulations of the Board, have admission to a Reading Room reserved for them; shall be entitled to the loan of books from the Lending Department; and shall receive on application a copy of the publications of the Institute at cost price or free, as the Board shall decide.

Admission.

36. The Library and Museum shall be open to the public every week-day—except on Christmas day, Good Friday and such other days as the Board may appoint—during such hours as the Board may from time to time determine.

37. Visitors both to the Library and Museum are requested to inscribe their names in the Visitors' Books kept for the purpose.

Library.

38. The unreserved Reading Rooms of the Library shall be free to all persons respectably and decently clad; their use is, however, granted conditionally on compliance with the Regulations of the Board: and the Librarian may deny admission thereto, should he see cause, but he shall report every case of the kind to the Board at their first ordinary meeting thereafter.

39. The Regulations of the Board referring to the privileges of readers and visitors shall be posted in the Rooms, and every reader and visitor shall be held bound by such Regulations.

40. There shall be a Room in which books of special value shall be kept. These works shall be available under such restrictions as may be thought advisable by the Board.

41. The Librarian shall be at liberty on his own responsibility to grant the temporary use of the Members' Room to strangers and others.

42. It shall be the duty of the Librarian to maintain order and promote comfort in the Library and Reading Rooms.

43. No smoking or audible conversation is allowed. Children under fourteen years of age are not admitted. No dogs are allowed.

44. No reader may retain possession of any newspaper more than fifteen minutes after receiving an intimation from the Library Assistant, or any Officer in charge of the Reading Room, that such paper is required by another reader. Permission to remain in the Rooms will be withdrawn from all persons who use the newspapers or other publications in a manner regardless of the convenience of other readers and of mutual accommodation.

45. Access to the bookshelves is not permitted to any but the Officers of the Library.

46. Suggestions from members and the public as to additions to the Library shall be entered in a book kept for the purpose.

47. Permission to copy drawings and engravings may be obtained on application to the Librarian. Tracing is not allowed and no ink may be used, except with the special permission of the Board. No marks may be made on books, drawings or maps.

48. No book, map, newspaper, manuscript or other article belonging to the Institute may be taken out of the Reading Rooms without the special permission of the Librarian.

49. Readers are required to replace, in their appointed places on the tables, any periodicals which they may have had in use.

50. All books consulted for reference must be returned into the hands of the Officer in charge of the Reading Room and not left on the tables of the Reading Rooms.

51. It is requested that any reader observing a defect in, or damage to any publication or manuscript, will point out the same to the Librarian.

Lending Library.

52. Books and periodicals are issued to members only, and one book and one periodical only are issued at one time to a member. The loan of a book or periodical in the hands of a member may be renewed at the discretion of the Librarian, unless such book or periodical is required by another member.

53. Works of special value will be lent only with the special permission of the Board.

54. Any book borrowed must be returned to the Library within thirty days, or any periodical within ten days, from the date of issue (unless renewed), under a penalty of threepence for each week or portion of a week during which it is retained. Periodicals can only be lent to members after withdrawal from the Reading Room.

55. Any member borrowing a work, is requested to point out at the time of borrowing to the Librarian any defect or damage in such work.

56. Should a work on being returned be found to be injured, the member returning it shall defray the cost of the damage as assessed by the Board. Should a work be lost or destroyed, the member losing or destroying it shall make good the loss in such manner as the Board may direct.

57. The occurrence of infectious disease in a member's house cancels the privilege of borrowing books for the time being.

The Museum.

58. The Public are admitted to the Museum on condition of complying with the Regulations of the Institute; but the Curator may deny admission thereto should he see cause, and he shall immediately report every case of the kind to the Secretary.

59. No smoking is allowed. No dogs are admitted. Children under fourteen years of age must be accompanied by an adult.

60. Visitors are forbidden to touch the objects in the Museum without the special permission of the Curator.

[Original Titles.] 1st and 2nd vols. of Chronicles, comprising:—(1) The Description and History of England; (2) The Description and History of Ireland; (3) The Description and History of Scotland. First collected and published by Raphael Holinshed, William Harrison, and others: Now newlie augmented and continued (with manifold matters of singular note and worthie memorie) to the yeare 1586. By John Hooker alias Vowell Gent, and others. With eminent tables at the end of these volumes.

Vols. II. and III.—The 3rd vol. of Chronicles beginning at Duke William the Norman, commonlie called the Conqueror; and descending by degrees of yeeres to all the Kings and Queens of England in their orderlie successions; first compiled by Raphaell Holinshed and by him extended to the yeare 1577, now newlie recognised, augmented, and continued (with occurrences and accidents of fresh memorie) to the yeare 1586. Wherein also are contained manie matters of singular discourse and rare observation, fruitfull to such as be studious in Antiquities, or take pleasure in the grounds of Ancient Histories. With a third table (peculiarlie serving this third volume) both of names and matters memorable.

Vol. IV.—Title page wanting (England).

Vol. V.—The Description of Scotland. Written at the first by Hector Boetius in Latine and afterward translated into the Scotish Speech by John Bellenden, Archdeacon of Murrey, and now finallie into English by R. H. Whereupon is inferred the Historie of Scotland conteining the beginning, increase, proceeding, continuance, acts, and Governement of the Scotish Nation; from the originall thereof unto the yeare 1571. Gathered and written in English by Raphaell Hollindshead and continued from 1571, to 1585, by others.

Vol. VI.—The 2nd vol. of Chronicles: containing the Description, Conquest, Inhabitation, and Troublesome estate of Ireland; first collected by Raphaell Holinshed; and now newlie recognised, augmented, and continued from the death of King Henrie the eight untill the present time of Sir John Perot Knight, Lord Deputie: as appeareth by the Supplie beginning in pag. 109, &c., by John Hooker alias Vowell Gent. Whereunto is annexed the description and Historie of Scotland, first published by the said R. H. and now newlie revised, inlarged and continued in this present yeare; as appeareth in pag. 405, &c. By F. T. with two tables serving both countries added in the end of this vol. 1586. 6 vols. 4to; London, 1807-1808. [15 g.]

Libell of Spanish Lies. Found at the Sacke of Cales, discoursing the fight in the West Indies, twixt the English Navie, being fourteene ships and pinasses, and a fleete of twentie saile of the King of Spaines, and of the death of Sir Francis Drake. With an answere briefely confuting the Spanish lies, and a short relation of the fight according to truth, written by Henrie Savile Esquire, employed Captaine in one of her Majesties shippes, in the same service against the Spaniard. And also an approbation of this discourse, by Sir Thomas Baskervile, then Generall of the English fleete in that service; avowing the maintenance thereof, personally in armes against Don Bernaldino, if hee shall take exceptions to that which is heere set downe, touching the fight twixt both Navies, or justifie that which he hath most falsely reported in his vaine printed letter.
